

Lets be honest. Most people enjoy coming home after a long day at work. Or just sitting down after putting the children to bed. I believe that it is unreal how many calls you receive just to know what you think about your long distance service or how long does it take for your water to warm up. I do not want to deal with that. Not now, not ever and thanks to Indiana's telephone laws, we don't have to. Let's take that extra 5 minutes to tell our children that we love them, not to hang on because we have a telemarketer on the phone. Thank you.
